

Platanos College News

Monday 24th April 2017

Google Expeditions Workshop

The highly exciting Google Expeditions Workshop took place at the college on Friday 21st April. Over 20 classes were able to participate in the workshop.

Each pupil received a Google Virtual Reality Headset and our most able pupils from every year group were able to experience some wonderful encounters. We journeyed from the Amazon Basin, to an encounter with gorillas in the Congo, the International Space Station and then into the human digestive system. The pupils even travelled back in time from hundreds to millions of years ago!

The pupils learnt about the use of cutting edge technology, project design and how maths and programmes are used practically. The virtual reality experience really demonstrated the use of technology in our pupils' learning.

This day was a real adventurous one and a big thumbs up from Science, Maths, History and Technology.

