

Platanos College News

Thursday 4th April 2019

Trips to enhance learning: National Army Museum

As part of the school's end-of-term enhanced learning programme, a range of trips and workshops were arranged for pupils in each of the different year groups to complement their learning outside of the classroom.

Some of our Year 8 pupils visited the National Army Museum where they engaged in learning activities revolving around the First World War. Each pupil was given a trail guide to aid their learning as they moved around the museum completing a variety of tasks.

The pupils enjoyed the numerous interactive activities which really encouraged them to engage with the historical topics. Some of these included role play, puzzles based on rations, as well as planning and calculation tasks.

