

Platanos College News

Tuesday 10th January 2017

Theatre workshop for our able pupils

Our recent theatre workshop on the 9th January for our most able pupils was a very successful and challenging production for the pupils.

Our Key Stage 3 pupils attended the Southwark Playhouse to study Shakespeare's "The Tempest". It was a fascinating production that gave our talented pupils an additional perspective on the play.

Ms Valmarana, our Lead Practitioner of Drama, was extremely proud of what our pupils achieved on the day.

David Workman, Educational Coordinator at Southwark Playhouse, agreed: "You were in fact our first school audience, and we were really impressed with your students."

“For a group of young people who hadn’t been to the theatre before or knew the story of The Tempest, they were really well behaved and did extremely well with the tasks.”

