Work-related learning at Lambeth College

On Monday 10th February 2014, eight of our Year 11 pupils had the opportunity to attend a Hair and Beauty Media Make-up workshop at Lambeth College, Clapham.

During the workshop our Year 11 pupils were given an insight into the media make-up and special effects industry. They were then given a demonstration on how special effects make-up is applied and how different equipment are used.

After the demonstration all of the pupils were given the chance to practise the application techniques on each other.

The pupils embraced the opportunity and asked a host of questions as they practised the techniques they were shown.

At the end of the morning workshop, the pupils were given goodie bags, a short tour of the site and the opportunity to ask questions about the college and the courses on offer.

It was a fantastic morning and all pupils represented Platanos College extremely well.

Pupils' Comments

"The workshop at Lambeth College was the one of most amazing experiences I have had. I learnt the skills of applying media make-up, such as fake blood, scars and bruises. I think that the knowledge that I have gained here is going to help me in the future."

"The workshop at Lambeth College was a great day and a very good experience. It was refreshing whatever your interests are and it was very interesting and stimulating to learn something new."
